School Trustees Oppose Closing For Bath Fair—Busy Session

Will not close Wednesday for Fair week as in past—Favor short noon hour as at present—May open Colwell and Valerio for traffic detour with reservations—Make purchases—Audit bills.

Addison High School is ready to reopen after a summer of renovation, repainting and repairs, it was reported at the August meeting of the Board of Education held Tuesday night in the office of Principal Irving R. Gladstone.

New Biology Course

The board members approved the expenditure of $98.92 for equipment for the new general course in Biology which is to be installed under state supervision. The course is required for those planning to make nursing a career. The equipment will be used every other year, when the course will be taught.

The purchasing committee approved the purchase of 50 cases of paper towels. An unabridged dictionary will be purchased for the study hall at a cost of $16.

No Bath Fair Closing

The school will not close any day during the week of the Bath Fair as in past years. The Board felt that not enough children from Addison attended the fair on the Children's Day and the children might better be in school. Members felt that should something happen in the winter with the schedule, they will have that extra day.

The faculty officers of the student extra-curricular activities funds will be the same as last year. The Board approved Principal Gladstone, for supervisor, Bernard Wilson for treasurer and Miss Doris Everingham for faculty auditor.

President Miller reported that three bottom rows of flues had been repaired in both boilers so they are now in good condition. Door stops on all doors have been repaired. Bills for the work were approved at the meeting.

Some paint left from the summer painting was mixed with a hardening material and used to paint the auditorium. Mr. Miller reported that 14 diaphragms of radiators had been soldered and over $100 had been saved on the cost of new ones.

State Highway engineers reported that no warning signs for schools could be purchased by the department nor could the department finance painting markings on the pavements. If the Board wishes to do this, permission may be asked of the state department.

Addisonites Star In Avon Picture

"See yourselves as others see you" was the slogan for the home motion picture shown here recently. That might well be chosen for the motto of the motion pictures now being shown at the Avon Theatre. Harry Riggia was here last week photographing people throughout the village and the result is that he has several excellent motion pictures of popular people in the community as well as some of the lesser known lights. Many children making their cinematic appearance for the first time. It will be interesting in years to come to view this picture and try to identify the characters appearing throughout the picture.

There are boys and girls on bicycles, women shopping, shop keepers stealing out for a walk, young lovers arm in arm, women hanging out clothes, children at play and many other unposed pictures.

Mrs. Mullen Surprised At Birthday Party

Mrs. Harry Mullen was the surprise hostess at a birthday party given in her honor last Friday night at her home 51 Steuben street. Arrangements for the affair were in charge of Mrs. George Freeman and Mrs. Percy Smith. They brought a picnic lunch to Mrs. Mullen's home for the occasion, including a birthday cake. In addition to the husbands of those above mentioned, Trooper Lynn Wheeler, brother of Mrs. Mullen and Miss Grace Slocum were present. Games were played to bring the evening to a close. She received many gifts.

Pile Driver Awaited For Temporary Bridge

Preliminary work is progressing slowly on the Main street bridge job. There is a great deal of preliminary work to be done in erecting the temporary bridge before anything will be done on the Main street structure.

Timer is in place, the Wall street approach has been graded as has the Colwell street approach. After the pile driver arrives, the surfaces of Wall and Colwell streets will be topped to stand the loads of the traffic the road will be called upon to bear.

The pile driver will be started on the north side, or Wall street side of the river and the bridge structure will be erected right along, so that when the driver reaches the south shore of the river, the temporary wooden bridge will be nearly complete. The steam boiler for the pile driver has arrived and the coal is in storage near awaiting the erection of the machine.

Some local labor has been engaged on the project. Former Police Chief Elmer C. Bovee has been engaged as night watchman for the Foley Company, contractors.

Death Removes Mrs. M. Baker

The death of Mrs. Meritt Baker occurred at her home on the Catherine Creek Road at 3:30 Monday afternoon from complications. Although she had been in poor health for a long period of time news of her death came as a distinct shock to her friends.

Born Julia Dignen, July 16, 1879 in Freeman, Mrs. Baker was the daughter of Patrick and Mary Ann Sandow Dignen. She married Meritt Baker June 24, 1896 and they continued to reside on the same farm where they started their married life forty-four years ago.

Mrs. Baker was a faithful member of Addison Presbyterian Church although her activities in recent years were considerably curtailed by ill health; a member of Freeman Grange, an organization in which she was also formerly active. She was a devoted wife, a loyal friend and a kind neighbor.

Besides her husband her survivors include two sisters, Mrs. William Murray, Addison Hill and Mrs. Margaret Rathbun, Elkhart; also the following nephews and nieces: Lawrence, Murray and Mrs. Stanley Bebout, Addison; Bernard Dignen, Freeman; Mrs. Walter Dewey, Boston; Mrs. Enoch Blackwell, Elkhart; Mrs. Joseph Roche, Corning; Mrs. Russell Eaton, Miss Frances Rathbun, Buffalo and Meritt Rathbun, Nelson.

Funeral services will be held this (Thursday) afternoon at two o'clock from the home on the Catherine Creek road. The Rev. John V. Axtell, minister of the Addison Presbyterian Church will officiate and burial will be in Addison Rural Cemetery.

Dr. Auringer Will Attend Reunion

Dr. Horace E. Auringer will be in New York this week-end where he will attend a reunion of the Fifth Division, World War overseas veterans. The reunion is to be held on the World's Fair grounds with a program throughout the day. In the evening there will be a testimonial to General Ely, who commanded the division in France. Dr. Auringer was a medical officer in the division.

AHS Registration Today—School Opens Tuesday

Addison High School will begin sessions Tuesday morning after the Labor Day holiday according to Principal Irving R. Gladstone. Members of the faculty will meet Monday night in the library to greet new teachers, to get instructions for the coming year and to make plans for school activities.

Registration of students is continuing today, (Thursday) and Friday. All students desiring to enter AHS must register before Friday afternoon in order to be admitted to classes Tuesday morning. Parents are asked to cooperate with the school authorities relative to this registration.

DIRECTS COOKING SCHOOL

MISS RUTH RICHARDSON

The school will be under the personal direction of Miss Ruth Richardson, university graduate in Home Economics, special representative of the Spry Research Kitchen in Cambridge, Mass., lecturer and writer on food subjects and recognized authority in the food world. This lecturer is a superb cook. In the course of her demonstration she turns out delicious light cakes, tender flaky pastry, and a variety of appetizing, economical foods that delight her audience. Best of all, she shows you how to get the same results. A trained Home Economist, her lectures are authoritative, and in line with modern food ideas. As an extension worker for the Spry Research Kitchen, her demonstration technique is faultless.

Mrs. Ethel Smyth in Corning Hospital

Mrs. Ethel Smyth has been a patient in Corning Hospital for several days as the result of a fall Thursday in which she suffered a fracture of the hip. Mrs. Smyth, in company with her daughter, Ruth Anne, her mother, Mrs. Alma Hammond and cousins the Misses Lela and Georgia Bebout of Corning was spending a few days at Lake Lamoka and in some manner fell while descending the cottage steps. It was not realized at first that the hip was fractured but X-rays disclosed the fact. Mrs. Smyth will probably be removed to her home within a few days but will be confined to her bed for several weeks.

Hi-Lights and Shadows of the Week's News

Both London and Berlin are suffering almost daily air raids as the Nazis and British strike back and forth at enemy centers of government. Both sides continue to minimize their own losses while claiming big damage to the other.

British bombers dumped six tons of explosives on the Italian plane and tank factories at Turin Tuesday. The Italians admitted hits were made on the Fiat Works but did not state the amount of damage caused.

Shelling of southern England by big German guns across the narrow channel quieted down this week after a great bombardment. It is believed by observers the big guns may need repairs as they will only fire some 80 rounds without reloading. British naval guns vigorously hurled shells across from the west side of the channel.

Bombing attacks have a strange reaction on animal life in England. Cows on some of the farms have been reported as acting shell shocked while birds started singing at night as flares lighted up the countryside.

Wendell Willkie repudiated the support of Father Coughlin the radio priest Tuesday, saying he would not tolerate campaign help based on racial prejudices. The Republican candidate left New York for a short stay in Rushville, Ind., on his farms.

Many of the merchants of Addison are cooperating in this cooking school by advertising specials during the days of the school, pointing the way to better products and contributing towards the prize baskets which will be given at each session of the school on August 30, September 6 and September 13.

Eugene Wade points the way to better trucking, both local and long distance and the courteous manner in which the work is done.

"Dom" Doddato of the Shell Oil Company continues to introduce his household products to the public and will tell you what they can do to bugs and insects. He is contributing samples for the opening show. Mark Hilfiger, manager of the Addison G.L.F., wants to acquaint people with the cereals and flours.

Plans Nearing Completion For Fish and Game Meet

Fish and Game Club members held a meeting to make arrangements for their annual outing and field day which is to be held Sunday, September 8, weather permitting. The affair will be the ninth annual outing, shoot and meet to be held under the auspices of the Addison Fish and Game Club members. The club grounds at McCarthy Field, river road south, will be the meeting place for the affair.

Entertainment will be provided for women and children in the appearance of trained falcons owned by Game Warden Tompkins of Hammondsport. The men will be entertained by Fred Thomas, an expert rifleman.

Advertising Club Picnic At Watkins Glen

Dr. Stuart H. Bean, Elgin Chatfield, Edwin C. Smith and several assistants were in charge of the Advertising Club annual summer outing held Wednesday, August 21 at Watkins Glen. There were about 40 members, their wives and families who motored to the Glen.

Many took advantage of the lake's calm to make an hour's motor boat trip about the lake. All then returned to the upper park in the Glen where a picnic luncheon was served. Some of the more hardy members of the party climbed the stairs through the Glen and enjoyed the trip.

NOW MAJOR NICHOLS

George F. Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nichols, has been elevated to Major in the United States Army, according to word received here last week from Port Amador, Panama Canal Zone, where he is now located. He enlisted in the army in 1917 and has advanced steadily since that time. His wife and two children are with him in Panama.

No Labor Day Parade Here

There will be no public observance of Labor Day in Addison this year as in the past few years. People of the community will be asked to hang out their American flags as in past years.

No organization or individual has come forward to lead the community in a public observance of this day. In former years parades, picnics, band concerts, ball games and many other public functions were held on this day and usually some well known speaker extolled the virtues of labor.

he has in stock and takes a big space to tell you about them. In addition he is offering generous full-size packages of the products at the cooking school each week.

John Wicker, hardware dealer, tells the women they can have gas stoves as beautiful as any and use bottled gas. He has them on display in his store.

The advantage of looking beautiful is pointed out by Coral Payne, who recently added a beautician to the staff in his barber shop.

Walter M. Goff, licensed pharmacist, points the way to better drug service and a full line of drug products and cosmetics.

The Sisto Lumber Company appreciates the advantage of a well-painted room and shows you how you can do this at little cost for any room.

Lynn A. Taylor carries all the products used in the cooking school by Miss Richardson and invites you to visit him when in need.

Tyson's News room has a complete line of school supplies which are advertised in this issue and money can be saved by purchasing there.

Mobiloil products are advertised by the Wall Street Garage, Addison's most completely equipped garage for all service. In addition a full line of tires, batteries and accessories are also carried in stock.

L. E. Handy suggests that paint will save your property and also advises the householder to prepare for winter by having stoves and pipes fixed now.

Guy Ricker, Main Street grocer, also carries the full line of Lever Brothers products in stock and points out that he has a full line of fresh meats and vegetables daily. Erwin's grocery is closing out and offers bargains to settle an estate of the late Samuel C. Erwin, long a Main Street merchant.

Manager Harry Chappell of the A. & P. announces that he also carries the full line of cooking school products. All Lever Brothers products are carried in the varying sizes.

Ward Williams will provide the Tappan range for the school and invites inspection before and after every session of the school and cites the low price on a trade-in value.

COMMON POLITICS

Hopes that the 1940 national campaign can be kept on a high plane of thought were dimmed last week when the champion New Deal brick-bat thrower, Harold Ickes went on the air in an attempt to answer the acceptance speech of Wendell Willkie. Ickes was at his worst in that radio address abandoning all pretense of logic to hurl meaningless words and innuendos at the Republican nominee. Truth or falsity of his words made little if any difference to Ickes.

As for Willkie's challenge to the President to debate the big issues of the day upon the same platform, the Administration "sounding board" said it was "unworthy of reply".

Perhaps that is the only answer the New Dealers can think up at the moment, but most voters think differently and would like to hear the President and Willkie debate the big issues confronting the country at this time. It is so easy in a political campaign for an aspirant to office to wiggle out of a direct reply to a question regarding public affairs that a face to face debate on the most important things facing the country today would be welcomed by the voters. When Willkie said neither Lincoln nor Daniel Webster thought it was undignified to debate he placed the opposition in the role of claiming superiority to those great statesmen.

As for Ickes' attack upon Willkie it savored too pungently of dirty politics to warrant the consideration of thinking citizens. When he accused the Republican nominee of having been a member of Tammany Hall and never resigning from that organization he uttered a falsehood which he could easily have avoided if he cared.
And when he tried to blacken Mr. Willkie by attempting to connect him with the notorious Insull affair he resorted to the same dirty tactics as a prize fighter who slugs below the belt.

One line of attack taken by Ickes will likely boomerang against the third term campaign, that is his lashing out against business and business men in general. That kind of tactics has largely lost its vote appeal in 1940. It was a successful form of political attack in 1932 for the Michelsons to win votes by castigating business and accusing industry of responsibility for the depression.
That form of mob appeal must be generally discounted in this campaign for the simple reason the New Dealers have consistently shown they are ruining the country by lack of any business sense.

There is one thing the country is practically united upon this year, and that is the belief we should arm the country thoroughly against danger of any attack from Hitler. Arming a country the size of this for mechanical warfare is a huge industrial job and the only possible way that job can be done is for sound business men to tackle the task. Today the man in the street and the mother in the kitchen are far more interested in protection from bombing planes than in high-sounding social reforms. For the American people are not so dumb as to suppose they would be anything more than the pawns of fate if Hitler won supremacy over this country as well as Europe.

The one question which will be asked most frequently by voters this fall is, "who is the man best fitted to lead the country in an industrial revival which will restore prosperity and bring us to armed strength sufficient to defend ourselves from the dictators?" That question was in the public mind as soon as France began to be overrun by the hordes of mechanized Nazis. It was pressing so heavily upon the thoughts of the people the Republican party was forced to nominate Willkie, a real business executive, in spite of everything the professional politicians were able to do.

No hurling of epithets by bombastic campaigners such as Ickes will alter that frame of mind.
The people are determined on adequate American defense and that is the major determining factor in this campaign. They will vote for the man who can best prepare this nation for defense.

NO EXCUSE FOR FAILURE

In times such as these, fire waste is a national calamity.

Every fire, great or small, represents economic loss. It has no mitigating circumstances. Materials are destroyed. Wealth is destroyed. Production is stopped. Energy and time are consumed.

Today we are embarking on the greatest military expansion program in our peace-time history. The successful and swift fulfillment of the program means that all our resources, all our energies, must be given it without stint. We lack essential materials, and in many industries we lack skilled labor. The drain that fire makes upon the nation is certainly inimical to the defense program.

Fortunately, fire is not a thing we must take for granted, on the theory that little or nothing can be done about it. Fire is a luxury. There are unpreventable fires—but they constitute an extremely small part of the total. The great majority of fires are the consequence of careles-ness, ignorance, slothfulness. The human element is to blame. Someone takes a chance, someone doesn't think, someone is lazy—and fire strikes. If we are lucky, damage is slight. If we are unlucky, a ghastly toll of death and property destruction follows.

At this time we should regard fire prevention as a factor of national defense—a factor that can make the completion of the arms program more sure and swift. And the cause of fire prevention needs all of us as volunteers in a great anti-fire army. It is an easy matter to learn the principal causes of fire, and how they can be eliminated. And there can be no excuse for any man's failure to do that.

THE COUNTRY COMES FIRST

A strike in one of the country's major aircraft factories was recently averted by a narrow margin. The factory plays a key role in the new arms program.

One wonders when malcontents will realize that the people will no longer stand for industrial disputes which menace national security. If labor and management can't get together and settle their troubles without disrupting production, the authority of government will of necessity be used to control them.

Labor and industry have a chance today to show the stuff they are made of. When the nation dictates the policy that will take men for national defense, it cannot allow labor or industry to dictate terms of employment or production.

DUBIOUS "BENEFITS"

A short time ago, in a medium-sized eastern city, there was a controversy between a group of chain variety stores and the local clerks' union.
The union wanted all stores in the town to close Saturday afternoons, and persuaded a few local merchants to try the experiment. It then wrote to the heads of the variety stores asking that they fall in line.

The reply made by the variety stores casts some interesting light on retail operation. First, it pointed out that keeping stores open on Saturday afternoons in no way penalized clerks, inasmuch as they were given specific time off, no matter how many hours the stores operated. Saturday afternoon business was largely handled by extras, who would lose this source of income if the stores closed.

Secondly, the reply observed, the variety retail business differs from some other kind of business in that most of its sales are made on "impulse" goods. In other words, people do not come to the stores with a specific list of purchases in mind—instead they buy what appeals to them as they stroll down the aisles. No customer buys the ice cream soda tomorrow that he did not buy today. And, inasmuch as 12 per cent of the average total week's variety stores' sales were made on Saturday afternoon alone, closing the stores for that traditional shopping period would undoubtedly result in serious curtailment of business. That would mean the stores would purchase less from manufacturers—at the expense of factory labor. It would employ fewer workers in the stores—at the expense of local labor. And finally, the fact that home stores were closed Saturday afternoons would tend to encourage customers to go to other communities where stores were open—at the expense of the home community.

Lastly, the letter stated that experiments made in Saturday afternoon store closing in other towns had generally proven failures, and had been abandoned. The community, like the stores, simply could not afford the loss of business.

Here's a case where the interests of labor obviously jibe with the interest of business and the interest of the town. Lost business is rarely regained—and labor is always the worst sufferer in the long run. It is possible to give the worker some dubious "benefits" that in time he will find himself out of a job!

WHERE THE "MONEY POWER" BELONGS

"Banks have funds to care for any conceivable rise in demand for credit," according to William R. Kuhns, editor of Banking, "and all their efforts and research of recent years have helped prepare them for just such a period as probably lies ahead."

As the preparedness program develops, existing sources of bank credit should be used to the utmost. The idea that government should dominate the credit picture, pouring out billions of tax money in an endless stream, is an exceedingly dangerous thing. It would divert funds from other and necessary purposes. It would inflate taxes and the debt more than is necessary. And of great importance, it would be a dangerous extension of political control over the financial destinies of the people, and actually control their economic freedom.

If private banking is allowed to do the job, it will mean that the "money power" will remain in the hands of the people, where it belongs.

Dish For This Week

Cantaloup Pickles

Cantaloup pickles are especially good served with bland meats such as roast of lamb, beef and chicken.
A recipe is suggested by the New York State College of Home Economics:

Cantaloup Pickles

Cantaloup
1 cup of vinegar 4 cups of water 4 cups of sugar (2 pounds) 1 tablespoon of whole allspice 1 tablespoon of stick cinnamon 1 tablespoon of whole cloves Cut the fresh cantaloup into sections of the size desired, cover these with brine made by dissolving one fourth cup of salt in each quart of water, soak the cantaloup for three hours, and then drain it.

Mix the vinegar, water, sugar and spices, and boil the mixture for five minutes. Then add the cantaloup sections to the sirup and boil them rapidly for ten minutes. Let the mixture stand overnight, and then drain the cantaloup.

Save the sirup and boil it until it coats a spoon, then return the cantaloup to the sirup and boil the mixture until the cantaloup is clear (about one hour). Pack the cantaloup sections into clean, sterile, hot jars, cover them with the boiling sirup, and seal the jars.

A dinner menu might include roast chicken with cantaloup pickle, mashed baked potato, green snap beans, fresh vegetable salad, whole wheat bread and butter, fresh cookies, milk for the children, and coffee, tea or milk for the adults.

How, What and Why

This paper has arranged with the Office of Information of the New York State Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics to answer questions about problems of farm and home. If you enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and mention the name of this paper, you will receive a direct reply of your query from the colleges. Do not ask more than one question in one letter or on one post card. Ask as many questions as you like, but make each one a separate communication.

Wants Summer Flowers

M. H. R., writes: "I have a summer home on the shore of a lake where I enjoy raising flowers in the summer months. Which flowers can be started now for summer flowering? We are at the camp only a short time, so early spring or late fall flowers would be of no benefit to us."

R. C. Allen of the floriculture department replies: "We assume that you want hardy plants that will need little attention during the spring and fall. If the seed of the flowering plants is started now, they should bloom well next summer: coreopsis, shasta daisy, del-phinium, heliopsis, blue flax, lupines and hollyhocks."

"This fall or next spring, it might be well to purchase some plants of the following flowers, since they do not come readily from seed: sneezewort, meadow sweet, baby's breath, daylily, phlox and clump spirea. These are showy plants and require little attention."

Garden Crops Suffer

M. S., asks: "Can you tell me something about the potato bug enclosed? Also, what's wrong with our rhubarb, a sample of which is enclosed?"

Dr. R. W. Leiby of the entomology department answers: "The yellowish slug-like insects are the immature stage of the three-lined potato beetle, similar except for color in the slug stage to the Colorado potato beetle."

"They seem to be present in larger than usual numbers this season and can be controlled on potato plants with lead arsenate sprays or with a thorough dusting of rotenone powder."

"The rhubarb stem shows injury by the rhubarb curculio. I observed a grub boring in the stem. The only way to control this insect is to hand-pick the beetles in late June and early July when they lay their eggs in the stems of rhubarb and dock. Control is further affected by removing all dock, thistle and sunflower plants that grow in or near rhubarb planting during July while the grubs are still in these stalks."

tion of school children at the intersection of South, Main, Steuben, Tuscarora Streets and Valeria Parkway. All the patrolling of the streets is completely donated by members of the Police Force.

Each night there is some member of the Force on the streets until midnight or later. We, too, are human and need some rest and since there is no salary can we be expected to patrol all night?

It should be called to mind, too, the Police Force is short of men.
At present there are only three officers who have been sworn in.
One of them works out-of-town.
The police officers are also constables. Often times the two officers who are in town are called out on a case. When this happens the town is left without police protection.

We, of the Force, have tried by courteous treatment of motorists, to get people from outlying districts to come to our village to trade. A canvass of merchants proves that an increase in trade has resulted.

Certain people have complained of speeding on Front and Tuscarora streets. There are no speed limit signs at any approach to the village. The police have asked repeatedly that such signs be erected.
You, Reader, know the result. It has been found too that much of this speeding is done by our own professional and business men.

At different times there has been talk of re-routing 17 to get traffic away from Main street. How many of you were for it?

If the people of the village desire twenty-four hour police service we can give it to them if they are willing to pay two or three men a living wage so they will not have to do anything else in order to live.
The only alternative is for the police and justices to make a "racket" of the thing, as has been done in the past, arrest everyone for every minor misdemeanor, thereby lining their own pockets so they won't need any other means of livelihood. The result of this method would increase taxes and drive people, who should come here to trade, to go some place else.

Penn Yan—Edgar S. Martin, 67, editor of Scouting, national Boy Scout magazine, and director of publications for the Boy Scouts of America was buried at Gorham near here last week with a Boy Scout guard of honor. Mr. Martin was the first paid Scout executive in the country, joining the movement in 1911.

Jake Kress is quite a fisherman.
He admits it. And from time to time during the years has proved it to the satisfaction of some. However, the word is going about that Jake is slipping. I wouldn't say so, you understand, but only repeat what I hear. Anyway, John Russ, who has never been much of a fisherman, seldom brags about it, is being lauded over Jake this year for catching the biggest bass in the vicinity. How about this, Jake.

Mrs. Rambler was surprised last week at a surprise party given in her honor. And I'll have to admit, that was one time when the stable English in her went awry and she became quite flustered.

Saw a preview of the home movie being shown at the Avon Theatre and some people look pretty good on the silver sheet. I was surprised at the backwardness of some of the local people and the manner in which they objected to being filmed the 20th century way.

No one has told me, nor have I seen any pictures, but I wonder how near Bligh Chatfield came to falling into Watkins Glen or Seneca Lake? Those of you who saw the pictures of last year's Ad Club outing remember his standing on the dock and nearly going into the water.

The elephant herd on Charles Crane's lawn continues to grow.
This must be a GOP year judging by the rapid rate of increase in that herd. There are three small ones following the larger one now.

I say, if the state highway department of bridge engineers will get rid of the mess of water which collects at Valerio and Colwell street, they should be given permission to use those streets for a detour. It will only be six months and a permanent improvement there will result.

Justice Brewster called my attention to the fact that the Hoover prediction of a few years ago "grass growing on the Main Streets" came true in Addison. There is grass growing on the Main Street and I'm told it is rather destructive to women's stockings.

Bill Newman left for his home in Poland, Herkimer County, N. Y.
And right away, rumors and wis-cracks started. Bill is the south-side mailman and someone started the rumor he had broken his leg and would not deliver mail for a few days. The last I heard, Bill was in fine fettle and getting ready for the State American Legion Convention in Schenectady.

Good luck to Warren Perkins as he represents Addison High and the Southern tier of counties at the State Future Farmer and 4-H convention in Syracuse this week.
He will speak on "Dairy Herd Improvement Association Records for Herd Improvement".

The Board of Education turned down the proposal to close school Wednesday of County Fair week on the grounds not many Addison children went to the fair. One year it rained, and another it was too cold and it looks that way again this year.

And speaking of cold, August 24 was the coldest on record since 1873. The Rev. Axtell came out of the North with some fish stories and a tale of 13 degrees cold there last Saturday. You ask him about it.

I hope to learn something at the cooking school here Friday afternoon. Miss Ruth Richardson, the home economist in charge of the show, promises to give the women of this vicinity something really worth while to take home.

The Rambler says good bye to the Rev. Russell Kirsch with regret.
I found him quite conversational and friendly and enjoyed his company. His going to New York leaves a gap in the succession at the Church of the Redeemer.

That's all.

—The Rambler.

Forest Ranger Issues Warning Against Fires

Forest Ranger Robert M. Roche, Painted Post, reports that there have been less than 20 calls for the Ranger this year to extinguish fires as compared to over 40 last year. And the areas burned this year have been much less than last year by comparison. The largest fire this season was that reported on an eight acre lot.

However, Ranger Roche points out there is always danger in the woods and fields at this time of year and asks that care be taken in extinguishing fires after picnics, in the disposal of lighted matches and cigaret stubs and also warns against throwing matches, and lighted cigarets along the road from moving cars.

The work of the southern Steuben area will be greatly augmented by the addition of a fire tower at Beartown. The steel work will probably be erected soon. It is not expected that a permanent ranger will be installed there at the present time.

It will be possible to see seedlings of sweet clover growing with the application of a minimum amount of lime.

In addition to the rotation experiment, there may be observed on this farm, one of the most extensive fertilizer trials that has ever been conducted. All sorts of minor elements and plant vitamins have been applied under the direction of Dr. Smith.

Cole Favors American Way

Washington, Aug. 8—(Special)—

W. Sterling Cole, representative in Congress, is sending out from his office here several hundred letters in reply to communications received on the draft bill now pending in Congress. He said today that the vast majority of letters, including resolutions passed by American Legion Posts in his district, favor the proposed draft as "the American way" of selecting men for training in the event of the United States being placed in grave danger. "There is no one," he said, "who does not look upon compulsory military training in peace times as repugnant to the American philosophy of life and government. Especially is this so in a nation such as ours, committed to the cause of peace."

"At the same time few will deny that grave dangers lie ahead. The Congress, and with but one dissenting vote, has just appropriated over ten billion dollars for military equipment. This equipment is ineffective without personnel to operate it. Voluntary enlistments are adequate only for raising the authorized limit of the standing army."

"The 'conscription' bill is not designed to develop a standing army but rather a reservoir of trained citizens who might be available if the need arises. To build this reservoir I believe it to be the American way that the members be selected by local boards, without fear or favor or partiality. It is decidedly unfair and un-American to ask only those whose patriotism prompts them to volunteer for service to their country to carry the entire burden."

"Being myself a parent, I know we do not desire to raise our boys to be soldiers but, as real Americans we must accept every responsibility that citizenship imposes. My responsibility in this matter rests upon me heavily but my course is being decided by what my conscience tells me is the right way, the only way, to protect and preserve America."

Crawford to Seek Democratic Welfare Post

William Crawford, supervisor of the Town of Rathbone, will be the Democratic standard bearer for the office of Steuben County Welfare Commissioner in the coming election. There was some question of his eligibility at first owing to his now holding the office of supervisor. However, if elected he would have to resign the supervisorship. Present Commissioner E. Ray Hardenbrook and Supervisor Joseph Reigelsperger of Wayland are to contest the position in the Republican primaries.

Gas Company Must Keep Increase Records

Albany, August 27 — The Crystal City Gas Company has been directed by the Public Service Commission to keep accurate account of all amounts received by reason of increased gas rates during the pendency of a proceeding now in progress to determine the propriety of the higher rates. The proceeding was ordered by the Commission on a complaint of the Mayor of Corning.

After the increased gas rates were permitted to become effective, the Mayor of Corning filed a complaint against the increase and the Commission directed that an investigation be held and a hearing has been held before Commissioner George R. Lunn who, in a report to the Commission states that he does not believe the evidence introduced at the first hearing justifies an order suspending the increased rates but that he does believe that an order should be adopted requiring the company to keep accurate account of such increases during the pendency of the proceeding.

Kay Losinger Weds Frank Youmans Sun.

Miss Catherine F. Losinger of Grove Street, Addison, and Lawrence F. Youmans of Wellsboro, Pa., were united in marriage Sunday morning in a ceremony performed in the garden of the bride's home. The Rev. Nicholas Van Cossa, pastor of the Addison Methodist Church performed the ceremony. Seasonal flowers consisting of gladioli, zinnias, phlox and other garden flowers were used throughout the garden.

Miss Evelyn Reynolds of Corning was maid-of-honor with Miss Mildred Losinger, sister of the bride, Miss Marjorie Youmans, sister of the groom as bridesmaids. Albert Walters of Buffalo was the attendant for the groom.

Fifty guests were entertained at a garden party following the ceremony with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Losinger as hosts. Blue and white were used as garden decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Youmans then left for a motor trip to Richmond, Va. and New York. Upon their return from their wedding tour they will live at 40 Central Avenue in Wellsboro, where the groom is employed in Dart's Auto Supply Company.

The bride wore white starched organdy with close fitting waist and full skirt. Her flowers were pink roses and blue delphiniums. Her maid-of-honor was attired in blue figured organdie with tight bodice and full skirt, and the maids wore blue with long full headresses and matching accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Northside High and Gregg Business Institute and has been employed in the office of Attorney Frank L. King in Corning.

Edith Gould Weds Linsford Calkins

A pretty home wedding was that which occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Gould, Borden Thursday, August 22, when their daughter Edith was united in marriage to Linsford Calkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Calkins of Borden. The ceremony was performed at three o'clock before an arch of autumn flowers with the Rev. George N. Arnold receiving the vows of the young couple. Miss Arletta Reitenauer of Hornell was bride's maid, Phillip Benjamin best man and Jeanine Williams, a cousin of the bride was flower girl. Incidental music was played by Mrs. Jessie Reitenauer of Hornell.

The bride, attractive in a gown of white chiffon, carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. Her maid wore pink satin and carried pink gladioli. The bride's mother wore teal blue silk print with a corsage of variegated phlox, while the groom's mother was attired in royal blue silk with a corsage of white phlox.

Following the ceremony a luncheon was served to the immediate families who comprised the guests. Both the bride and groom are well and favorably known in their home community as well as in Addison where they attended high school and were graduated. Mr. Calkins was a member of the class of 1937 and his bride of the class of '38.

Following a trip to New York and the World's Fair Mr. and Mrs. Calkins will reside in Borden where the former will assist his father on the farm.

CUBA PATRIOT EDITOR SPEAKS RIGHT OUT

The following appeared in the Cuba Patriot and Free Press of the 8th of August, 1940: Early Adams Missed Vital Opportunity

"Although the name Adams has been prominent in the history of the United States, the publisher of The Patriot is sheepish on learning of an error of omission on the part of one of his progenitors. It appears that in 1623 when the first Adams came over on the good ship Fortune from England there was a cabin boy aboard whose name was Roosevelt. Had the Puritan Adams known, he might have saved the United States the worst eight years in its history by leaving a cake of soap near the rail for the youth to skid from into the briny deep."

Big Red Eleven Fortified For Tough Football Season in 1940

Ithaca, N. Y.—"M"-Day for the Big Red Team will take place on September 11, according to Carl Snively, commander-in-chief of the Cornell football team. That is the day that Cornell will open its fall practice. Voluntarily imposed regulations prevent beginning practice earlier than two weeks before the opening of the University.

While there is considerable debate over the wisdom of military conscription, when it comes to football, a fellow is insulted if he doesn't receive a letter from the coach inviting him back to fall practice. Accordingly, 58 potential football players have been made happy by being conscripted during the duration of the season.

Rated as one of the best teams in the nation last year, the Big Red will be hard put to equal its undefeated record. Coach Snively says, "I have my fingers crossed while we will have a veteran team we will be short on reserves. Only a few men are coming up from the freshman team. If we can rise to the heights of morale achieved last year, and if we can avoid injuries in vital positions, we should have a fairly good team. Of course, we are vulnerable with everybody pointing for us. Our constituents expect us to repeat. Our competition is stronger than ever."

The tip-off on how Carl Snively feels about his 1940 team came when he winked his eye and admitted, "We ought to win at least two games this year."

The principal reason for this burst of optimism is the fact that the team which received the national recognition last year is practically intact. The tentative line-up for the first two teams includes but two juniors. The rest are veterans and seniors. Two men will be sorely missed. Whit Baker at right half back, who gained over a third of the yardage of the team and the most powerful runner on the team has graduated. Big Bill Worcester who rose to great heights as the replacement for All-American Nick Drahos, when he went out with injuries, has also received his sheepskin. Otherwise the team will look very much like the 1939 edition. The tentative line-up for the first two teams, based on spring training, will be:

First team—Hershey, LE; Dunbar, LG; West, LT; Finneran, C; Drahos, RT; Conti, RG; Kelley, RE; McCullough, LHB; Murphy, RHB; Matusczak, BB; Landsberg, PB.

Second team—Schmuck, LE; Wolff, LG; Blasko, LT; Stimson, C; Christenson, RT; Cohn, RG; Jenkins, RE; Scholl, Buffalino, LHB; Borham, RHB; Ruddy, BB; Eichler, PB.

McCullough, Scholl and Buffalino are capable of playing at either left or right half back and they will be shifted as the occasion warrants. Landsberg has just recovered from an appendix operation, while Eichler will rejoin the team after having lost a season's experience by reason of a knee injury. Vince, who was captain last year, is reported in fine shape as indicated by his winning of the regional tennis championship held at Utica in mid-summer.

Among the veterans on the squad, many of whom played on the junior varsity team last year, there will be: Ends: Foster, Elmer, Tredennick; Tackles: Van Order, Hooker, Goodkind, Sweeney.

Center: Tone, Viel; Halfbacks: Quigg, Templeton, Kaplan, Stillwell; Blocking Back: Dragon, Leh-macher.

Sophomores who showed promise in spring practice include: Ends: Homes, Nehr, Johnson, Helmick, LaScala.

Guards: Grady, Schafer, Young; Tackles: Rochow, Rockmore; Center: Swanson, Manganelli; Halfbacks: Stofer, Mulligan, Kazan, Wells.

Blocking Back: Politi, Ely; Fullback: Goldenberg.

The team will be rich in passers and kickers. There will be plenty of backs. The weaknesses of the team will be in the limited number of men for the tackle and center positions. Snively is not afraid of "seniorities". There will be keen competition for positions and this is regarded as a sure antidote for the malady which generally affects a team made up of seniors. Some of the reserves are going to make a serious bid for regular positions and in this respect the situation is regarded as healthy.

There are no illusions about the difficulty of the task which lies ahead. Ohio State still remembers the surprise defeat administered by the Big Red last year and various members of the Coach Schmidt's staff are on record as promising an evening of the series this year. In fact the two-game series ends this year and the Buckeyes say they will balance the books on October 26 when they come to Ithaca. The athletic office in Schoellkopf Memorial Building has been beset with applications for tickets for this game continuously. However, all checks have been returned and will not be accepted before September 1, the official date set for the receipt of applications. Physical limitations of the field will permit but 30,000 seats and a sell-out is anticipated.

Newcomers to the schedule include Army and Yale. They replace Penn State and Princeton. The 1940 schedule: October 5, Colgate at Ithaca; Oct. 12, Army at West Point; Oct. 19, Syracuse at Ithaca; Oct. 26, Ohio State at Ithaca; Nov. 2, Columbia at Ithaca; Nov. 9, Yale at New Haven; Nov. 16, Dartmouth at Hanover; Nov. 23, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Mansfield—Naylord Small, 29, Port Allegany, is being held on a charge of murder in the death of Henry Wells, 37. Both were itinerant workers living in a tourist camp near here. They had been scuffling.

Masonic Deputy Given Apron

District Deputy Grand Master, Edgar T. Bouck, Jasper, was presented the emblem of his office, the Grand Lodge Apron, by Past District Deputy George Pratt of Corning. Mr. Pratt acted as master of ceremonies at the program which was attended by several past grand lodge officers from throughout the county.

District Deputy Bouck responded by calling attention to world conditions which have led to the abolition of Masonry in many European countries and pointed the way in which it could be done here. He advised his audience to keep Masonry alive in this country.

Among those present were: F. Harold Hollister of Painted Post; Mayor E. M. Peet, Painted Post; Joseph Boughton of Painted Post and Charles L. Crane of Addison, who responded to a toast by Mr. Pratt. There were 65 present.

Jury Questionnaires Gets New Test

The criticism of the Steuben County jury system voiced last fall is bearing fruit. The Steuben supervisors made out a questionnaire which was sent to 6,900 potential jurors in Steuben County. About two-thirds of these have been returned.

It was learned that many on the jury list had moved, were incapacitated, were over age or ineligible in other ways. This will eliminate much of the criticism of Judge Lapham, who found 10 per cent of the jurors on a recent case ineligible.

Forrest J. Loper, supervisor clerk, stated a few objections to capital punishment in answering the questionnaire. They will not be drawn in murder trials. Those who do not return the questionnaire will not be called.

WINES that match Europe's best!

On the smiling slopes of New York State's Finger Lakes region and certain other areas, is found a unique combination of favorable climate, correct soil conditions, a minimum of insects and fungi, proper air currents and other factors as favorable to wine grape production as that of the most famous vineyard country in Europe.

Add to this a consummate skill in developing the most flavorful varieties of grapes (Catawbas, Delaware, Ives, Clintons and others) plus long experience in winemaking—and we have domestic wines that foreign connoisseurs praise with their own.

Ours is the second largest state in grape and wine production (75,000 tons of grapes) and produces 90% of all fermented-in-the-bottle domestic champagne.

Ask for New York State wines. They are a drink of temperance and congenial friendship... and a part of fine cooking.

Olde Tymers Show Baseball Stuff But Fade in Fifth Inning

Some smart baseball shown by John O'Keefe's Old Tymers—Many former stars in lineup—Comedy prevails with "Tiny" Tobin leading the "Huzzahs"—Score still uncertain.

By The Rambler
Nine Old Tymers proved that the old time hit and run game is more fun than the scientific baseball game played today. The demonstration was given in Addison Saturday afternoon when John O'Keefe's Old Tymers, average age about 50, won a slightly cockeyed game from John "Lefty" Flynn's Nine Old Men, average age about 30. Both teams are rated old as ball players go in most of the leagues hereabouts, but many of the fellows on the field Saturday afternoon proved that "age cannot wither" some of the boys who love the game.

Baseball players of the two and three decades ago who appeared in the lineup for the Olde Tymers were Roland Loveless of Corning in centerfield, Frankie Love of Painted Post in left field, Johnnie Comosh of Corning, Big Lou Tobin of Canisteo, Sam Woodburn of Canisteo, R. O. Wilson of Hornell at catch, Ed Flohr of Canisteo, pitching, Lou Duffy of Canisteo in right field, John O'Keefe at second and Dick Cornish at short.

The Nine Old Men lined up with Dave Little at short, Gib Dodd at second, Hopper in right field, Maurice Robbins at catch, Ray Hargrave on third, Flynn in left field, Rudy Wade in center field, Don Grange at third and Walt McDermott pitching.

The game started when "Lippy Lou" Tobin gave a demonstration of hitting before the game and on his first time at bat was brought a chair by one of the spectators. The first time around ended with the Olde Tymers having four runs in the bag on well placed hits. That was their best inning for after that they began to tire and had tough going.

The Addisonites scored only one run in their part of the inning. The second inning marked the beginning of the entertainment for the fans. And incidentally, this was an old home day for many of the fans and players who had not seen each other in many years. The Olde Tymers stole bases, placed hits, scored four outs in an inning and generally clowning a good game.

The Addisonites went to town in the second inning and scored seven runs on three hits as the Olde Tymers found the going tough. As one of them expressed it, "it was not the chasing balls that was getting him, but the bending over".

The Nine Old Men were held scoreless in the third with three men up and three down on some good fielding by Flohr. Then the Olde Tymers really went to town. Wilson banged out a homer as the first man up, then Flohr stepped back and put the next one at the schoolhouse for a second homer. He wondered about it and took his time around the paths before the umpire called it a fair ball. Duffy singled, O'Keefe bunted and Loveless drove Duffy home. This was their big inning. Three up and three down for the Addisonites in the fourth when Flohr struck out two. There was no scoring by either team in the next two innings. In the final stanza, made final by fatigue of the players, the wearing out of pitchers, the Olde Tymers scored four runs on hits by Tobin, who did not count those hit off the end of his bat. Woodward, who scored two stolen bases much to his and the fans surprise, hit by Wilson, a three-bagger by Flohr and a single by Duffy, who knew how and when to bunt.

The score was not what mattered in this game so I will not embarrass either team by giving you that, suffice it to say it was a good game, loads of fun and the players had a get-together for an afternoon of sport and showed they still have "what it takes to be good sports".

School Trustees Oppose Closing For Bath Fair

for a school bulletin. Mr. Willson asked if the work could be done cheaper locally. Mr. Knebel pointed out it is a misdemeanor for a member of the Board to do any business with the Board. It was finally voted to do away with the bulletin and make a four page folder with the members of the Board, faculty members and calendar for general distribution.

Short Noon
Mr. Knebel asked the Board to reconsider the short noon hour period given students at the present time. He stated some parents had approached him and felt the allowance of time was not enough and was unfair to children living within the village but long distances from school. Principal Gladstone pointed out that the shorter period gave students time for more work and kept the students out of the corridor when extra-curricular activities are going on during the noon hour. The members decided to leave the matter as is.

Insurance Distribution
Dr. Auringer brought to the attention of the Board the fact that W. R. Crocker desires a greater equalization of the insurance expenditures of the board. At present the Crane Agency has $875, W. B. Leete, Inc., $775 and Mr. Crocker $266. Some of the members felt that inasmuch as he does not take all kinds of insurance, he only wants the "cream" of the insurance and is not willing to take the poor policies. The question was also brought up as to whether he is a broker or "splits his commission with an out of town broker". It was voted to leave the insurance as is.

Mr. Knebel reported the American Legion had vacated the grammar school building.

Those present at the meeting were: President Maurice E. Miller, Trustees, Clark Baxter, Robert A. Willson, Leon Callahan, Andrew Knebel and Dr. H. E. Auringer. Absentees were Mrs. Susan D. Perry, William E. Pepper and Bel-den Ackerson.

Final vote on the conscription bill approached as debate continued hot in the Senate this week. Senator Johnson threw a bombshell when he quoted from an army handbook which derided the working on a Democracy. Army men retorted the excerpt had been deleted from the army book.

Senator McNary accepted Republican vice presidential nomination Tuesday in a speech in which he derided New Deal "defeatism". McNary assailed the Administration for its "thesis that America is finished" and condemned the Hull reciprocal trade treaties. He reiterated his advocacy of the two-price system for farm products which he declared would enable us to export without injuring our own markets. About 30,000 persons went to Salem, Ore., to hear the speech.

"Strange Cargo" Featuring Clark Gable Starts at Avon Sunday

Completely off the beaten track of accustomed film fare, "Strange Cargo", story of a group of desperadoes who escape a tropical prison, opens next Sunday for three days at the Avon Theatre, with Clark Gable and Joan Crawford co-starred.

The film, adaptation of a best-selling novel by Richard Sale, delves into the lives and thoughts of nine men and a girl who make a get-away from a South American penal colony and strike through hitherto impassable jungle to reach a haven. Only four of the original ten survive, but each one who perishes meets a repentant death with complete regeneration of spirit, through the influence of Cambreaux, a mysterious stranger with a Bible.

Ian Hunter appears as Cambreaux; Peter Lorre is seen as Monsieur Pig, the girl's nemesis, awaiting her at the end; and a group of outstanding character actors complete the featured cast, among them Paul Lukas, Albert Dekker, J. Edward Bromberg, John Arledge, Frederic Worlock, Bernard Nedell and Victor Varconi.
